THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY IN RE-

president has determined to follow an altogether different policy with relation to the appointments in Virginia from that in other states. The Star says that all the Mahone appointees will be dismissed upon the ground that the appointees made under Mahone rule were piratical, and the president will trust to public sentiment to sus-tain his action. Protests are being made from all parts of the state against the continuance of the Mahone control, and it is expected that about 500 appointments in the state will be made next week. The pressure being brought upon the president to induce him to make ap-pointments in other states to affect elections meets with poor success.

The Latest Reports as to His Condition and Progress.

New York, April 29.—The ulcerated portions of General Grant's throat, from which the broken down tissue has been sloughed awsy, have materially improved. The cancerous trouble at the base of his tongue is neither lessened nor is it at present aggressive. It is quiescent. Meantime the general's system improves. The weather of the last two days and that of to-day, though unpleasant to persons out doors, has been as a tonic to the system and spirits of General Grant. That depressing element of warmer days is wenting, and the patient seems brighter and more vigorous. He has now so far improved physically, that his mind is becoming engaged with the blocking out of work upon his book. This occupies his faculties, and the result is good. General Grant became quiet a little after ten o'clock hast night, and at eleven o'clock he slept. From that time on until eight o'clock this morning he slept well with occasional wakings. When the general aroused this morning he felt better and stronger than on Sunday, which was at the time the best day since the improvethe general aroused this morning he felt better and stronger than on Sunday, which was at that time the best day since the improvement began. When Dr. Douglas left the house at 8:15 o'clock to-day, he remarked that though there was some thickness of speech, the general had better and easier command of the organs of speech than has been the case since the attendance of the doctors became censtart. He said the general was better than at any time in a month.

The day was perfect, and long before the beginning of the formal programme large crowds were thronging about the great building and proceeding up the bread stairways into the main hall or trading room, which is the largest one employed for the purpose in the world. Here and in the galleries were assembled an audience of about 5,000 persons. Every exchange in the union was represented in the audience, and there were also delegates from England and Canada. At one o'clock Rev. Clinton Locke, of this city, inaugurated the proceedings by prayer, and was followed by John R. Bensley, chairman of the building committee, who formally turned over the keys of the building to E. Nelson Blake, president of the board, who responded in a short speech. The chief address was then delivered by Emory A. Storrs, who was was followed in short speeches by the representatives of the visiting bodies.

It will then go to the relief of General Santo Demingo Vila at Carthagena. Note signed by Modoya, and Colonel Reyes, chiefs of the expedition, was sent to the dean of the consular corps, in which it was set forth that the object of the expedition was to maintain order and give the necessary guarantee for the safety of life and property and free transit on the isthmus. At a meeting of the consuls yesterday with General Aizpurur, the latter said that while he did not entirely accept the titles conferred upon Modoya and Reyes, he was willing to disband his forces, deliver up their arms and retire to private life upon certain conditions. First, he would resign to any one who could constitutionally claim the power; second, pardon for tionally claim the power; second, pardon for political offenses as such, but prosecution and punishment of all offenders against common law in Panama, Colon and elsewhere on the isthmus. These briefly constitute the terms upon which Aizpuru desires to surren-der. The commissioners have carried these terms to the national commander, who refuse to listen to any terms.

A final meeting of the consular corps in conjunction with Admiral Jouett, Commander McCalla and the contending powers took place this afternoon, when the best possible solution of the present political difficulties was arranged. Aizpuru surrenders unconditionally, and together with his followers will retire from the city. According to the treaty agreed upon, which is to be signed to-morrow, the city, with all revolutionary armament, will be delivered over to the government troops under command over to the government troops under command of Colonel Reyes as soon as they enter the city. Colonel Mondoya will then assume the civil and military governorship of Panama until negotiations of the state government. All political offenders will receive full pardon, excepting those implicated in the recent burning of Colon. These latter will be apprehended and tried as criminals. The government troops are expected to disembark to morrow morning (Thursday) at 4 o'clock. It is believed there will be no trouble.

An Iron Sensation in Pittsburg. PITTSBURG. April 29 .- Figures that will create sensation in the iron business were presented to day in a long statement made by the officers of the Amalganiated association, in answer to the lemand of the manufacturers for a reduction o wages. The principal argument in support of the demand has been that on account of the low wages in the east, iron could be produced there for $10 or $12 a ton less than here. The figures presented by the Amalgamated association show there is really a difference of $8.79 in favor of the western manufacturers. The result upsets all the previous theories, and will be the basis for the Amalgamated association fight.

THE UNEXPECTED OCCUPATION OF MERUCHAK, nother Bold Dash of the Russians for a Froun of Vantage-The Effect of Mr. Gladatone's Speech-The Whole Russian Fiest Called Into Service-Other War News.

London, April 29 .- In the house of commons to-day Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, under foreign secretary, read a telegram from General Sir Peter Lumsden, dated at Tirpul, April 23d. This telegram mentions that the governor of Herat had received a report that the Russian troops had advanced upon Meruchak. Lord Edmund also said that General Lumsden himself in a telegram of the date of April 25, incidentally speaks of the recent ocupation of Meruchak by the Russians.

The speech of Mr. Gladstone, in the house of commons on Monday, upon the vote of credit of $55,000,000, was received with profound interest throughout Europe, and was published in all the newspapers. It has diselled any idea that may have been entertained heretofore that England will make concessions to Russia. The general opinion of the press is that the speech makes war certain. The newspapers are filled with discussions of the probable alliances the respective beligerents may form in the event of the war it is now thought is so near at hand, not being confined to Asia, but they think extended into Europe.

Once the Russians gain that point, they will be able to threaten Bokara and cut off communication with Cabul. The latest Russian advice is expected to bring the question to a crisis. The current opinion is the Russia is crisis. The current opinion is that Russia is really preparing for war much more rapidly than she appears to be. The Russian papers are being warned to secreey. It is reported that the knan of Bokara earnestly warned the smeer not to neglect Cabul. This letter to the ameer concludes:

THE MEANING OF THE SEIZURE OF MERUCHAK.

THE MEANING OF THE SEIZURE OF MERUCHAK.

The Standard, in an editorial referring to the occupation of Meruchak by the Russians,

There can be no question of Afghan provocation in this instance. The occupation of Meruchak stands out broadly and undisguisedly as a clear invasion of the territory of Afghanisten, without even the pretense of the nilitary necessity. Assuming that the news of the occupation of Meruchak is correct, there is little room for doubt that it can be considered anything else than a deliberate act of aggression, and this act of aggression has the appearance of being specially chosen in order that there may be no possibility of further mistake. It is a deliberate breach of solem covenant a flagrant violetion of Russia's promises and assurances.

It is stated that the populace of Herat, however, appear to be just as well inclined towards Russia as to England, lend their aid in the event of war is declared

This article declares that Russia, on the event of war, will settle matters with England in India and not in Afghanistan alone. The babeas corpus case of William S. Roberts, president of the broken Bank of Augusta, who is under arrest for grand larceny on a requisition of the governor of New York, proceeded all day be-fore Judge Romey. The dodge of a state warrant for felony was tried before the court met, but it amounted to nothing, as the prisoner was already in the hands of the New York detective. The prisoner's counsel moved another continuance to fully investigate the full record sent down from Governor McDaniel's office, but Judge Roney overruled the motion, giving counsel time to examine the records in the courtroom. They then amended their piea and writ, adding the grounds

1. That if the crime of grand larceny was com mitted, it was committed in Georgia, and not in

New York. 2. That Mr. Roberts expects to show that his attempted extradition is only a cloak for the extortion of an unjust debt claimed by the Bethlehem iron works of Pennsylvania.

3. That since the filing of the writ of habeas corpus the prisoner has been arrested by a state warrant for felony.

Judge Twiggs then claimed that the New York courts had 'no jurisdiction, and made this his basis of argument for showing that the requisition and executive warrant were irregular. He claimed that the amended pleas would bring up questions of fact, and asked for trial of these questions of fact by a jury.

Judge Roney said it was a painful duty, but the law made it his duty, to try and decide the facts arising in habeas corpus cases, and he was ready to perform his duty.
Solicitor General Wright claimed that Detective

Reilly's answer to the writ, with the requisition and Governor McDaniel's warrant, completed the ord. A lengthy argument following, Messrs. Black and Twiggs offering the entire record as reeived by the governor. Judge Roney decided to admit all the papers and the facts, and the argument on sustaining or dismissing the writ of habeas corpus was continued fill a late hour to-night. The question arouses intense interest, and the courtroom was crowded ail day. Judge Roney's decision is anxiously While Judge Roney was trying the writ for ha GHOSTLY VISITS.

A Hannted House Near High Shoals that is

From the Athens, Ga., Banner.
There is an old house standing about a mile from High Shoals factory, in Walton county, now uninhabited and fast going to decay, that bears a very uncanny reputation in the neigh-borhood. In fact, the most intelligent people berhood. In fact, the most intelligent people in that community look upon it with horror, and no amount of money could induce one to sleep in the house over night. Travelers after dark will go out of their way rather than pass the premises, while among the negroes the excitement almost amounts to a paric. The last occupant of this house was an old man who died some time since, for he sleep would consent to brave time since, for he alone would consent to brave the spirits and sleep under the same roof with them. For years this house has borne the reputation of being haunted, and in the still hours of night hundreds of reliable witnesses attest that they have been aroused from quiet slumber by the strangest and most uncarfuly sounds. In one room a mother can be heard rocking her baby to sleep and singing a low, sad lullaby, doors are suddenly thrown open, persons are heard walking up and down the stairs, etc. But nothing unnatural has ever been seen, and when the haunted rooms are invaded with lights the most death-like stillness prevails. A few years since a prominent minister spent the night at this house and ridiculed the idea of ghosts. But the next morning he appeared pale and haggard, and stated that he would not sleep another night beneath the roof for all the gold in the universe. Families have moved in one time since, for he alone would consent to brave in the universe. Families have moved in one day and out the pext, while visitors have left the house in the dead hours of night, being driven off through fear by the strange sounds that the otherwise beautiful girl should have such bad teeth. And all because she did not use EOZODONT. It costs so little to buy it considering the good it does, and its benefits stretch out into her future life. Poor girl!

At 3 o'clock the exercises were opened with beautiful and appropriate singing, tollowed by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Cooper. After another song by the choir the Hon. R. D. Crozier was introduced as the orator of the occasion. He began by pronouncing an eloquent eulogy on Mr. Davis, as the chosen leader of the lost cause. He showed him to be a patriot of the highest order, not only in his devotion to the confederacy, but when representing his section in the nation's coun cils and defending her upon the bloody fields of Mexico, He briefly reviewed the causes which led to the war between the states and held contempt the men who have repudiated a con stitutional principle for which we found Mr. Crozier closed with a high tribute to the patriot ism and spertan-like devotion of our southern women. Child Scalded to Death in Henry County-The Rev. John Caldwell, of Hampton, has declined the call to Atlants, and will continue to preach in that place. Henry county has thirty-seven paupers, who are supported at an annual cost of $1,300.

Editor Brown, of the McDonough Weekly, has been heard late at nights singing an original ditty, "In the gloaming, O my darling, Listen to me, O my darling— Do not change your flannels yet!" A horrible accident occurred in Henry county Saturday. A little eight months old child of Mr. Theodore Phillips, while playing near the fire place, pulled over a pot of boiling water, and was so severely scalded that it died the next day.

Edward, the fifteen year old son of Mr. B. F. Cardon, who resides near the Rockdale line, in Love's district came to his death under distressing circumstances. He was plowing in a bottom field, when he turned up a quantity of root that resembled parsnip in appearance. A younger brother was with him, and they are some of the roct. It proved to be red angelica, a deadly poison. In a few minutes the younger one became deathly sick and started for the house but had not proceeded far before he was seized with convulsions and fell to the groudd. He was discovered in this condition shortly afterwards and conveyed to the house. A liberal drenching with sweet milk and salt caused him to vomit and he revived. This treatment was repeated and he grew perceptibly better, and in a few hours recovered sufficiently to sit up. Dr. Gunter was summoned as speedily as possible, under whose skillful treatment the little fellow has since recovered, though he exhibits occasional symptoms of the poison yet. Now comes the saddest part of this sorrowful occurrence. When the younger-brother became sick and started toward the house, Edward resumed his plowing. In about ten minutes he. oo, was seized with convulsions, and died before assistance could reach him.

Lampkin and Jim Peak, a couple of negro boys 18 or 20 years of age, were coming into the field that morning to kill him. Mr. Davis paid no attention to the warning, and went to the field to his plowing. At an early hour the young would be assassins made their appearance, carrying concealed revolvers upon their persons. After strutting around considerably and sounding Mr. Davis's hands, and discovering that they would receive no sympathy from the employes on the place, they left without executing their murderous intentions; or even saying a word to their intended victim. Mr. Davis came to Waynesboro and sued out a war rant for them, which was placed in the hands of Constable A. J. Lawson, who succeeded in arresting Pasco, but Peak skipped and is still at large. The cause of this dastardiy attempt at assassination seems to be that Peak, a friend of Pasco, entertained a grudge saginst Mr. Davis because he had been severely whipped by his father, Sherwood Peak, a respectable colored man in the country, for some of his devilment at the instance of Mr. Davis son e four or dive years ago. We learn that Peak is biding in Riebmond county, probaby in Augusta. Purreal is on his track, which means that he must forever quit the country or be brought back to answer his offence against the law. Pasco was throught before Judge Perry, of the country count, last Saturday, and plead guilty to carrying concealed weepons, and as the negro boys had made no assault upon Mr. Davis or other violent demonstration, it was the only crime the law could reach. Judge Perry fined him $50 and costs, or three months in the chaingang. Of course he could not pay the fine, and will, therefore, be compelled to render three months in the chaingang. PINKEYE

Y1ELDS TOTREATMENT

Testimony of Messrs. Redd & Cox, the Well Known Horsemen of Atlanta.

Statement of Colonel Jas. L. Fleming, of Augusta, Ga.

A PERFECT CURE OF PINKEYE!

About the first of April, ISS5, four or five horses in our stable were taken with that dreaded disease, Pinkeye. We did every-thing that we could to relieve them, using all the remedies laid down in the horse books, but the remedies laid down in the horse books, but without any appreciable benefit. The sufferings of the poor animals were terrible, as they wasted away under this disease. At last one of the best of them died. Having read a statement from Colonel James L. Fleming, of Augusta, about the cure of a valuable horse of Pinkeye with Swift Specific, we determined to give it a trial and secured a supply. We followed Colonel Fleming's direction and gave each animal four ounces of S. S. S. with equal quantity of water three times a day. Some of the cases were more obstinate than others, but quantity of water three times a day. Some of the cases were more obstinate than others, but pl yielded in time to the influence of the medicine. The first symptoms of improvement were a disposition to move about and a gradual increase of appetite. We are happy to say that Swift Specific has made a perfect cure of the remaining four horses, and they are in splendid condition today. From our experience, we believe Swift's Specific is one of the best tonics for the animal as well as for the human race. It invigorates the system and improves race. It invigorates the system and improves the appetite of the horse as well as of the man, and will no doubt make the horse shed off more readily his winter coat of hair. We most cordially recommend it.

A Remarkable Cure of a Horse.

Colonel James L. Fleming, a prominent grocery merchant, a member of the firm of Messrs. Fleming & Loflin, Augusta, Ga., makes the following statement of the treatment of a valuable horse with Swift's Specific:

In the fall of 1883 I had a valuable colt taken with a severe case of pinkeye, which resulted in the most fearful case of blood poison I have ever seen. After eight or nine months of doctoring with every remedy that I could hear of I despaired of a cure. At this time the horse was unable to move, because of swollen limbs. His right hind leg was as large as a man's body, and had on it over forty running sores. He had also a number of large more on his body and other limbs. He was a most pitiable looking object, and I was advised to end his sufferings with a shot gun. He was a valuable animal and I did not want to loose him. After racking my brain in search of In the fall of 1883 I had a valuable colt him. After racking my brain in search of another, remedy more efficacious, I thought of Swift's Specific (S. S.). I knew it was invaluable to the human family as a blood purifier, and why should it not be for the animal as well? I did not hesitate, but sent last July to Atlanta for a furply.

to Atlanta for a fupply.

I began the treatment with 4 oz. of S. S. S. and 4 oz. of water three times a day. This I continued for a week. Then I increased the dose to 6 oz. of each and continued for a week. dose to 6 oz. of each and continued for a week. Then I increased to 8 oz and run it for a week, when I went back to 6 oz. again. The result was that at the end of the first week the horse had a fair appetite, which he had not since his sickness. At the end of the accound week even greater improvement was apparent, for many of the sores were healing up nicely and the horse manifested a desire to move about. At the end of the third week he bagan to show a gain of flesh and had full appetite. The swelling had about disappeared. Used in all about fitteen bottles of Swift's Specific, and when I quit its use the horse had only four small sores left on him and they healed up immediately.

In August last all symptoms of the disease parend away, and up to date no signs of the return of the trouble have made their appearance, and the horse has done a mule's work on my farm, where he can be seen any day and is in better conditions.

farm, where he can be seen any day is in better condition than for eighteen months past. Every remedy that I could hear of or find in horse books had been exhausted before I tried Swift's Specific, and but for it I honestly believe the horse would have died in less than a month. I regard it one of the most remarkable cures I have ever known. Thus this great medicine has proven a boon to the animal as well as to the human race.

Statement of Colonel Jas. L. Fleming, of Augusta, Ga.

About the first of April, I885, four or five horses in our stable were taken with that deaded disease, Pinkeye. We did everything that we could to relieve them, using all the remedies laid down in the horse books, but without any appreciable benefit. The sufferings of the poor animals were terrible, as they wasted away under this disease. At last one of the best of them died. Having read a statement from Colonel James L. Fleming, of Augusta, about the cure of a valuable horse of ment from Colonel James L. Fleming, of Augusta, about the cure of a valuable horse of Pinkeye with Swift Specific, we determined to give it a trial and secured a supply. We followed Colonel Fleming's direction and gave each animal four ounces of S. S. S. with equal quantity of water three times a day. Some of the cases were more obstinate than others, but gld yielded in time to the influence of the pedicine. The first symptoms of improvement were a disposition to move about and a gradual increase of appetite. We are happy ment were a disposition to move about and a gradual increase of appetite. We are happy to say that Swift Specific has made a perfect core of the remaining four horses, and they are in splendid con-dition to-day. From our experience, we believe Swift's Specific is one of the best tonics for the animal as well as for the human rece. It invicorates the system and improves race. It invigorates the system and improves the appetite of the horse as well as of the man, and will no doubt make the horse shed off more readily his winter coat of hair. We most cordially recommend it.

A Remarkable Cure of a Horse.

Colonel James L. Fleming, a prominent grocery merchant, a member of the firm of Messrs. Fleming & Loflin, Augusta, Ga., makes the following statement of the treatment of a valuable horse with Swift's Specific:

In the fall of 1883 I had a valuable colt then with a sware good.

In the fall of 1883 I had a valuable colt taken with a severe case of pinkeye, which resulted in the most fearful case of blood poiton I have ever seen. After eight or nine months of doctoring with every remedy that I could hear of I despaired of a cure. At this time the horse was unable to move, because of twollen limbs. His right hind leg was as large as a man's body, and had on it over forty maning sores. He had also a number of large tors on his body and other limbs. He was a most pittable looking object, and I was advised to end his sufferings with a shot gun. He was a valuable animal and I did not want to loose him. After racking my brain in search of him. After racking my brain in search of another remedy more efficacious, I thought of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) I knew it was invaluable to the human family as a blood purifier, and why should it not be for the animal as well? I did not hesitate, but sent last July

I did not nestate, but sent last duy to Atlanta for a fupply.

I began the treatment with 4 oz. of S. S. S. and 4 oz. of water three times a day. This I continued for a week. Then I increased the dose to 6 oz. of each and continued for a week.

Then I increased the I increased to 8 oz and run if for a week, when I went back to 6 oz. again. The result was that at the end of the first week the horse had a fair appetite, which he had not since his sickness. At the end of the second week even greater improvement was apparent, for many of the sores were healing ub nicely and the horse manifested a desire to move about. At the end of the third week he hagan to show a gain of flesh and had full ap-letite. The swelling had about disappeared. Tued in all about fifteen bottles of Swift's Specific, and when I quit its use the horse had cally four small sores left on him and they bealed up immediately.

In August last all symptoms of the disease passed away, and up to date no signs of the aturn of the trouble have made their appearance, and the horse has done a mule's work on my farm, where he can be seen any day. ance, and the horse has done a mule's work on my farm, where he can be seen any day and is in better condition than for eighteen months past. Every remedy that I could hear of or find in horse books had been exhausted before I tried Swift's Specific, and but for it I honestly believe the horse would have died in less than a month. I regard it one of the most remarkable cures I have ever known. Thus this great medicine has proven a boon to the animal as well as to the human race.

THE RAILROADS.

THE EAST TENNESSEE PRACTI-

The Men Discharged, the Shops Deserted and the Frd of the Trouble Not Yet—One Hundred Trainmen to be Side-Tracked To-Day —The Trouble That's Been Caused.

The East Tennessee road is practically wrecked. The unfortunate state of affairs that Atlanta so much feared and tried so hard to avoid has come about. The road is to-day shattered in its business, while its employes are demoralized and scattered.

Yesterday a large number of men were suspended from the shops and where ten days ago three hundred skilled mechanics were employed, only about twenty-five are now engaged. Yesterday a Constitution man visited the shops. The yards, a few days ago a hive of industry, were deserted, and only one or two men were to be seen. Three or four men were idly chatting in the shade of the machine shop. The round

The blacksmith shop, boiler shop and car shop were almost without men, while in the beautiful machine shop with its fine equipment, the lathes, planers and other machinery stood idle. Here and there a man was at work, but the place was not the busy scene it had been. In the car shop forty-five men left their work and twelve remained. It is said that other discharges will follow to-day, and it is told pretty straight that about a hundred train men will be suspended before night.

"Why is this?" asked a CONSTITUTION man of an East Tennessee official.

Said he in reply:

house was

Said he in reply:

"This is why it is: The road is going to ruin. We cannot keep these men on uncertainty. People are

by our line, and those who owe us are afraid to ray us. The business of the road has been badly affected and the thing is in such a muddle that we have to cut down. To-day Mr. Andrew Clark borrowed down. To-day Mr. Andrew Clark borrowed money on his own account and advanced it on the accounts of the suspended men. Money will be sent here in a day or two—earnings of the other division—to help pay off. Of course, with the road in that shape and getting worse the Georgia division has to be nearly shut down We must suspend the men because to keep them would be worse than to suspend them."

WHAT THE MEN SAY.

Some of the men are very much distressed. They have been told that if the cloud blows away they will be reinstated, but they don't know what to do. Some have already left the city. These men all get good wages, varying from $2.75 per day to $140.00 per month. They are such men as a city needs. A great many of them have homes, and families, send their children to school and live comfortably. They report that this is a very bad season at which to be thrown out of work, as the summer suspenthrown out of work, as the summer suspensions will soon be made, and it will be difficult to get in again. The men feel very bitter over the matter and it is probable that they will meet and take some organized action.

WHAT IT AMOUNTS TO.

The suspension of the men is a very serious

The suspension of the men is a very serious thing to the city. Every month the road pays out in wages here, $25,000. A retail merchant said yesterday to a Constitution man: "The trouble has already affected business. My case is this: Among the discharged mon were a number who had accounts with me. Probably the aggregate amount owed me was $200. A week say I would not have discounts. $200. A week ago I would not have discounted it at one per cent. Much of it I can never get now and nearly all of it is in the dim future. A great many merchants are thus left in the suds, and I should think several thousand dollars is lost to them by this trouble."

The Railroad Commission Publishes a Card to Those Interested.

The railroad commission has issued the following card and requests its publication by the press of the state as far as possible, so that all interested may receive due notice. There is no fund appropriated to pay for its publication as an advertisement:

Savannah Board of Trade, Savannah, Ga., April 28th, 1855.—A. C. Briscoe, secretary railroad commission, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear sir: Being told that the railroads have applied for an increase of rates I beg to sek if it is correct information.

If it is, will the commission grant same, or will a hearing be given and notice thereof sent to parties interested? Among the latter this board may be numbered. Yours truly,
For the purpose of giving an opportunity to all persons interested to be heard by the commission before the application is finally acted on the case was continued until May 26th, when final action will be taken. All parties interested desiring to be heard will be given the opportunity on the day mentioned. The hour of the meeting will be 10 o'clock a. m.

Report of a Scheme to Build From Covington to Macon Direct, Covington, April 29.—[Special.]—Covington is all agog with railroad excitement. A charter has been obtained for a road from this place to Macon. We have reliable information that iron has been purchased and now awaits orders as to shipment. Work will be commenced in thirty days, and the road pushed to speedy completion. The work is to be done by a New York syndicate. L. F. Liv ingstone is agent at this end of the line. Our people are jubilant over the idea of the road. 'Tis contemplated to extend the line to Cedar Keys,

Mr. Virgil Powers was among the railroad men talked to. He said:

A reference to the map will show that the road if built from Social Circle to Macon would connect with the road to Gainesville and make a short cut from Gainesville to Macon and possibly divert from Atlanta a good deal of through freight. The commission was in session again yesterday to consider the complaint of Hitt & Co., of Americus, vs. Central railroad and Banking company, on account of transfer charge on about 5,000 beles of cotton shipped from Americus to Savannah for export. The claim amounts to about $800. There was a full beard present.

The case was very ably and forcibly argued by attorneys on both sides. The commission-ers are considering the matter, but have not rendered a decision.

Mr. Haines then said that last year there was shipped off the line of the Savannah, Florida and Western about thirteen hundred cars of melons, and from reliable sources he estimated that the average this year would be about ten per cent increase, and he felt assured that the number of cars would be over fifteen hundred. Last year the movement commenced on the fifteenth of June. Owing to the backward season the movement this year will commence between the 20th and 25th. will commence between the 20th and 25th

Mr. Harrahan made a suggestion looking to-ward the number of cars required.
Mr. Fleming then said that experience had proved that shippers were satisfied with box cars with slatted doors for short distances.
Mr. Greene said he was authorized to state to the meeting that his line had now 200 year. the meeting that his line had now 900 ventilated fruit cars for this service. It is a projected line of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, which terminates at Chattanooga. A link has been built from Charleston to Augusta. Those at the head of the enterprise are leading capitalists in Georgia, and announce their intention of building the line. The company is capitalized at five millions. This is one of the most important projects yet conceived for the benefit of northeast Georgia. Next to the benefit of northeast Georgia. Next to the Predmont Air-Line it is certainly the most important to Gainesville. The line will be a direct one between Augusta, or rather Charleston and Memphis via Chattanooga. A straight line between the latter city and Augusta crosses the Air-Line at Bowdre, six miles above this city, and traverses to Chattanooga a section of country abounding in good soil, excellent timber, iron, gold, copper and silver ores, marble and other building stone of the very best quality. To utilize all these will bring in thousands of new citizens with capital, and in a few years towns, villages, furnaces, gold mills and manufactories will spring up from one end of the line to the other. Besides this, it will open up the most direct line that can be had from the seaboard to the west and northwest. No the scaboard to the west and northwest. The other day an eminent young physician in the last stages of consumption, unable longer to talk, called for pen and paper and indistinctly wrote this advice to his physicians: "Make dying comfortable."

This seems to have been the sole purpose of General Grent's attending physicians. They were making dying comfortable, but they were not curing their patient. He amazes them by getting better!

The utter failure rightly to diagnose and properly to treat General Grant's disorder was a serious blunder, emphasizing what has so often been said, that professional treatment, being purely experimental, is just as likely to being purely experimental, is just as likely to be wrong as right.

Had the general an ulcer on his arm the physicians would have treated him scientifically, very scientifically. He might have recovered or they might have cut his arm off. Some dear old soul of a grandmother, however, might have treated the sore by some "old woman's remedy" and healed it, but there would have been no "professional science" in such a proceeding, as her remedy would not be one recognized by the code!

The general's physicians excuse themselves, we are told, because the condition of the throat was hidden from sight. There are thousands of cases where disease is hidden from sight, where the symptoms are very obscure and conflicting. The physicians will treat every-day's symptoms, but they do not care, and finally the patient dies. Then they discover they have made a mistake! A horrible mistake! The other day a prominent merchant in a neighboring city was found dead in bed. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that one of his other vital organs was entirely decayed, and yet his physicians had been treating him for heart disease!

Some one has blundered.

Some one has blundered. For weeks the American public have been waiting the unwelcome tidings of General Grant's death. To day, the general is up and around and riding out.

People get well often in spite of what their doctors say and do. Why? By will power?

A prominent ex-cabinet officer is to-day on the verp edge of the grave, suffering from an extreme disorder of the liver. His doctors know they cannot cure him. They simply are making dying comfortable.

The agony of death in many cases is read by surrounding friends in screams of pain, in convulsions of nerve, in spasms of torture—the fixed eye, the chilly breath, the dreadful coughing, the bloody sweat—the supreme inflictions of pitless disease upon a helpless body, indicate the limitations of professional

They will give this, that and the other thing to make dying comfortable, but they know they cannot cure, and yet they will not permit the use of remedies "unauthorized" by their code, whether they are allopathic or homeopathic. If the system, as is common at this time of the year. common at this time of the year, has no tone and one has tired and depressed feelings, the doctor will tell you that the blood needs purifying, but he will not tell you what he knows to be true, and the blood is impure because the liver and kidneys are not performing their blood purifying functions.

The failure of the physicians in General Grant's case out to have an eye-opening effect upon the public. It ought to see the futility of trusting entirely in a profession whose practice is so largely experimental. The test of merit is success and who are necessarily and a profession of the contraction of the contract and when any agency has won a record proved by the testimony of prominent men and women in all ranks of society, it stands to reason that such a preparation is worthy of universal confidence. Who has not heard of it? Who has not used it? Who can gainsay the statement that it has wrought greater benefit for mankind than anything ever discovered inside the ranks of the medical profession? And yet many physicians who are bound hand and foot to their code will not bound hand and look to their code win her allow nor will they prescribe the use of Warner's safe cure. Nevertheless, spite of their small-minded bigotry, it multiplies instances of its singular merit by thousands every day, rests satisfied with the record it has won, and challenges comparison with the record of the most reputable physician.

It is a terrible thing to lose our triends, especially if we find out afterwards that they might bave been saved.
We are glad General Grant is getting well. He deserves to live, and in living he will emphasize the fact that physicians do not have a monopoly over disease; that "scientific medicine," so called, is not infallible; that all remedial agencies were not born with doctor INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic states at 1 a. m.: Slightly warmer; light variable winds, generally shifting to southerly; lower barometer.

THE Russians have occupied another strategic position in Afghanistan, and the developments of the day, generally, indicate that war is in active operation. Its formal proclamation cannot long be delayed.

THAT a whole day in the first part of the heated term should pass without receiving news from the Manitoba bush rangers, is a matter of wonder. Riel will have to do something to stir up the enterprising press agent at Winnipeg. THE American marines have won a victory of peace in Panama. The freebooters, seeing that they could loot the country no longer, have formally surrendered to the Colombian authorities, and the days of Aizpuru are numbered. Just as the world was preparing to hear the last of the Franco-Chinese war, it breaks out afresh, and threatens to drag its slow length a little longer. Notwithstanding the treaty between the two powers, the Chinese generals in Tonquin refuse to give up the positions which they have captured, and thus complications have arisen.

THE western iron men, in order to induce their operatives to submit to a reduction of wages, have asserted that it was necessary in order to compete with the cheap labor of eastern foundries. The workmen have collated figures to show that this is not true, as the western men have large advantages over those in the east.

A GEORGIAN CITY. .

The Charleston News and Courier, alluding to the proposed visit of President Cleveland to Atlanta, says: The president's visit to this part of the unio will be something more than a mere pleasure trip, and will be productive of good results to the south, to himself, and, in the end, to the whole country. He has never been in the south, and it has been a long time, on the other hand, since the south has been honored by the visit of a chief magistrate of the United States, for other than strictly sporting purposes. In going to Atlanta by the route through West Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia, and returning along the coast, the president will meet thousands of representative citiquate idea of the character of the people and of the extent of the resources of this important part

It is not to be expected that President Cleveland will make it a business of riding over the country to attend public gatherings, or will accept every invitation that may be extended to him, but the commercial convention at Atlanta will be of unusual interest and importance, and on every account he should not fail to attend it and to visit Savannah, Augusta and Charleston for a few hours, at least, on his way back to Washington.

Atlanta is an evidence of what the south, plus the west, can accomplish in the heart of the cotton region, but, at last, Atlanta is not distinctively a southern city, and the president will know little of the south if he fails to visit Augusta, Savannah and Charleston.

Our contemporary thoroughly understands and appreciates the importance of a visit to this section by President Cleveland. He will not come on a junketing or a sporting tour, but his visit will be one of business, and will add to the importance of the commercial convention.

We quite agree with the News and Courier that it would be to the advantage of all concerned for the president to visit Savannah Augusta and Charleston on his return. Mr Gilder, the editor of The Century Magazine, who has a keen eye for the picturesque, declares that Charleston is by far the most interesting southern city he has seen-interest ing in its surroundings, its architecture, and, indeed, in its whole atmosphere.

Our contemporary is also correct when it says that Atlanta is not distinctively a southern city. It is distinctively and typically a Georgian city, and is, therefore, an American city in the broadest meaning of that term-Scen-eyed, long-headed, enterprising and thoroughly alive to the history of the present, and with a cunning hand for moulding the events that make for prosperity. REFORM IN NEW ENGLAND.

Are we to understand that the Springfield Republican is somewhat vexed because THE Constitution is disposed to discuss the suffrage laws of the state of Rhode Island? We make the inquiry because it seems impossible to us that a paper having an occasional just conception of genuine republicanism. such as we have sometimes observed in the Republican, should even tolerate such a condition of affairs as exists in Rhode Island. Probably the Republican appreciates all that has been said in regard to the condition of affairs in Rhode Island, but is rather irritated that it should be said by THE CONSTITUTION, a paper printed away down here among the semi-barbarians, Well, the Republican is an admirable paper, but its opinions in regard to the suffrage laws of Rhode Island are not material. Those laws are simply the refinement of the ballot box stuffing that the republican papers have so loudly denounced in other quarters. We say refinement, but there is ne refinement about it. Manhood suffrage, so dear to the republican party, is boldly suppressed, and the organic law provides for class distinctions that would not be tolerated in a state where civilization has produced any genuine results, Rhode Island-in fact, all of New Englandmust be reformed. The people there are narrow-minded and slow-paced. They are not Americans in the true sense of that term. They are provincial. The only results that their civilization has produced are those that have come of transplanting it among strong-general, and the general and the particular.

wholly unjust. The truth is, the case is one of great delicacy. The United States of America has landed a force in the United men are there to carry out treaty obligations relating to transit between the oceans and to protect American property. It is a very difficult matter to do these things without interference with the domestic troubles of Colombia. The contest between the insurgents and the national government is a matter that does not concern us as a people; and Admiral Jonett's evacuation of Panama was doubtless prompted by a desire to avoid responsibility of this nature. If he kept Azpuru out of the city, how could he turn the city over to the national troops without taking part in the local contest? And if he continued to hold the city until the Colombian troops arrived, how could he refuse to recognize their authority? No matter what the consequences may be Admiral Jonett has acted wisely. He has doubtless secured pledges from Aizpuru in reference to the safety of the city, and this is all he could secure without taking a hand in the insurrec tion that exists in the state of Panama. He has done what he could to protect transit and American property without placing his force

It is a genuine pleasure to read an able Amer can editorial on the Anglo-Russian situation. The trouble is, there are too many able editorials. The fact that they differ widely is another slight drawoack. According to one view of the unpleasant ness, it is simply impossible for Russia to begin and carry on a war because she has no money and no credit. This view has impressed many people very forcibly. But it is completely annihilated by the position taken by another class of able editor rial writers, who hold that Russia will plunge into war for the very reason that she is without mone and credit. It is urged that Russia has reached uch a point of desperation that peace is intolera ble and war without terror. The czar thinks that foreign war may induce the conspirators who seek his life to postpone their designs. The people feel that they have nothing to lose and possibly comething to gain. Under these circumstance Russia will force a loan or secure it upon even the hardest terms in order to fight. These diametri cally opposite views are expressed in leading ediorials of equal ability. Every now and then the question of the annexation of Cuba comes up. The latest rumor is that the matter has been openly and actively discussed in Cuba for several months past. The idea has become popular in quarters where once it was not tolerated. The revenues of the island now fall much below the expenses of maintaining its government, and Spain finds it necessary to send funds for the support of the colony. Many leading residents of the island see no hope if the present relations continue. Spain feels that Cuba is a heavy load and likely to become a heavier burden in future. OUR NATURAL LANGUAGE. How a Number of Eminent Scientists Were Badly Disappointed.

From the Chicago Tribune. A few years ago a society of eminent men in Paris discussed the question: "What language would a child naturally speak if never taught?" The devout Catholics were of opinion that the Hebrew language would be spoken in these circum-stences.

One scientists was of opinion that some form of the Chinese language would be the natural tongue. Twenty different results were predicted.

At last it was decided to test the matter, and a committee was appointed to carry out the experiment. ment.

the Aips and made a living by rearing chickens and tending sheep.

The woman was given strict injunctions to allow no one to speak to these children, and as her cottage was some miles distant from any neighbor, the circumstances surrounding the experiment were very favorable.

Years rolled on, and many of the members of the society had lost sight of this interesting experiment.

Some members of the committee died, and there was great danger of the results of this wonderful set being lost to the world. Fortunately two of the members of the commit-tee kept initially watch on the case, and when the children were six years old brought them, with

Not one word could either of the children utter; their only form of language was a wonderfully good imitation of the crowing of a cock or the cackling of a hen, or the bleating of a sheep. The predictions of science were totally upset by a practical experiment. VERY GOOD FOR "SLIM" CALVES.

The Receivership Contest

From the Savannah, Ga., News Atlanta is greatly stirred up by the Fink and Lorsey contest for the receivership of the Georgia division of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad. The meeting of the business men of that town yesterday shows that there is considerable indignation among those interested in hav ng the contest settled at the prospect of a long and ruinous litigation.

There appears to have been but one sentimen the meeting, and that was that Mr. Dorsey ught to back out of the contest as gracefully a e can and allow Mr. Firk to take charge of the whole road, in order that he may get its analrs in a satisfactory condition as soon as possible.

The sense of the Atlanta meeting is doubtless the sense of a majority of the people of the state. The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road has done a great deal to build up certain portions of the state, and if properly managed will do a great deal more. It would be a shame to wreck it, and the chances are that it will be wrecked if the present contest between the hostile reservers is continued.

Of course Mr. Dorsey doesn't like to be beaten, but appearently, he is neither sustained by its tice nor public sentiment. It may be that he does not see his way clear to abandon the contest without a decision from the court to which he looks to sustain him, and the proceedings of the Atlanta meeting seem to indicate that he is not expected to abandon his position until he can do so under a decision of the court. Therefore, in the resolutions adopted at the meeting, a trial of the issues pending between the contesting receivers at once was advised.

Everybody seems to have the utmost confidence in Mr. Fink's honesty, ability and experience. In his hands the road may soon be relieved of its most pressing difficulties, and may eventually be placed upon a prosperous basis. If Mr. Dorsey should be sustained no one can predict with any degree of certainty what the fate of the road will be. It seems that the amount of the claim, which is the basis of Mr. Dorsey's appointment as receiver, is very small, in fact, it is so small, if reports are to be relied upon, that the suspicion is suggested that the purpose is not so much to collect it as to achieve some other object not wholly apparent.

It seems that the attorneys for Mr. Dorsey think that the Atlanta meeting will have the effect of intensifying the feeling of hostility between the wo receivers, but it is not improbable that they are mistaken. It will have the effect, doubtless, of hastening a settlement of the trouble. The courts will be inclined to save the road, and may strain a point in order to do that.

A Story of Butler. From the Boston Traveller.

An incident occurred while I was serving on the jury at Concord, when the general was quite a young lawyer, which I shall always remember. He was telling the court what he knew about Euglish law, when he was interrupted by the venera-ble judge with these words, delivered in a very emphatic tone and manner: "Young man, don't you talk to me about English law. I knew all about it years and years before you were born. You take your seat, sir!"

He did. It was too much for Ben's pride, and he burst into a flood of tears—more genuine than those shed at the Tewksbury hearing, without doubt.

Gradually Going Down.

From the Boston Journal of Commerce.

It is known that the Atlantic coast between Cape Hatters and Cape Cod has been sinking steadily or centuries, and it is within the bounds of prob for centuries, and it is within the bounds of probability that before 2,000 years have elapsed the cities of New York and Brooklyn may be under water. When the Dutch colonized Manhattan island 200 years ago, the Indians told them that in the time of their grandfathers that it was possible to cross Hell Gate dry shod from one bank to the other. Professor Guyot estimated that the lowering of the Atlantic coast was twenty two and one half inches every century. At the same time it is certain that the greater portion of the American continent is rising, while the continent of Australia is certainly sinking.

W. E. T., Dallas, Ga.: Are there not three the ories as to what causes water to rise from the artesian well? One the high source theory, one the cecan pressure theory and then the theory that in Florida, south of St. Augustine, the water is forced from the bored wells by gas? There is one accepted theory of artesian wells

It is that when a perforation is made through a retentive barrier bed into the water logged strata the water will rise through the bore to a height depending upon the pressure of water which has accumulated in the confined sloping space between the two imper-vious beds. The subterranean water rises to the surface and flows continuously by means of hydrostatic pressure. The gas theory may apply to such phenomenal springs as geysers, where nean eruptions force the water above the surface of the earth, but we find no mention of it in connection with arreaisn wells in Florida or else

TWO GREAT GAMES.

NASHVILLE AND ATLANTA DIST

Record of the Games Played Yesterday Acta shuts Columbus Cut, Nashville Barely State Augusta, Chattanock Downs Birming-ham, and Macon Defeats Memphis.

The games yesterday were the most brilliant played by the league. At every point a handson record was made, the game between Augusta a reshville being the finest played since the co mencement of the league games, while that tween Atlanta and Columbus was scarcely interesting.

Macon holds the lead with eight games to I eredit, while Atlanta and Nashvilles tie for second position with seven each. Columbus co next with six, and then Birmingham with fiv Memphis and Augusta have won four games ea and Chattanooga brings up the rear with two her credit.

The first round which closes with to-day's gam will find Macon in the lead. Should she lose t day, and either Nashville or Atlanta win, the su cersful team will share with Macou the first ran but should Macon win she will hold the posialone, with a record of nine successful gam Atlanta will play with Birmingham on Friday, th game which was prevented by rain last wee Hence, if our club defeats Columbus to-day a Birmingham on Friday, and Macon loses in game with Memphis to-day, the Atlantas v stand alone in the lead. Columbus was not prepared for the result to day, and o course feels quite sore over it to night. They wil not give up in despart, however, but will do their heat to retrieve their losses in the sixteen game that are yet to be played between the two teams. Bauer pitched remarkable game to-day, Columbus getting only four base hits off him, and they so scattered as to count for nothing. The Atlantas got only sever hits off Clark, but they were bunched all but two in the fifth and seventh innings, yelding threat runs in the former and one in the latter. The games will be again reported to-day in full at the baseball exchange in the Kimball house.

Atlanta Wins in Columbus, COLUMBUS, Ga., April 29 .- [Special.] - Columbus was shut out to-day, and the Atlantas did it. It was a fine game, nevertheless, and demonstrates that one or two dirty errors on either side will cost them the game. The Atlantas, however, baye shown up stronger in the two games already played, but it may be said that they had the good fortune to bunch their hits in the same inuing in which Columbus bunched her errors. Columbus was not prepared for the result to day, and of course feels quite sore over it to night. They will neight up in despair, however, but will do their best to retrieve their losses in the sixteen games that are yet to be played between the two teams. Bauer pitched a remarkable game to-day, Columbus getting only four base hits off him, and they so scattered as to count for rothing. The Atlantas got only seven hits off clark, but they were bunched all but two in the fifth and seventh innings, yelding three runs in the former and one in the latter. The finest play of the day was a left handed running catch of a fly by Cahill.

The games thus far have been very orderly and there is seldom any disposition shown to kick. The Atlantas say Columbus has a much stronger team than biacon.

The Game in Macon. MACON, Ga., April 29.—[Special.]—The game this afternoon was a fine one. Both clubs played to fine advantage, errors being few and promptness characterizing all the work. Knouff was at his best, and Miller never caught better. Crathers, of the Memphis nine, developed much strength as a pitcher, and Sullivan, catcher, showed himself to be a first-rate player. To morrow's game is very doubtful as both clubs have learned to respect each other's playing. The score by innings is as ... 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 0-2 Memphis

Augusta's Defeat Explained. Augusta, April 29.-[Special.]-Augusta and Nashville played the closest game of the season today. The home nine made one run in the seventh innning and shut out the visitors till the end of the ninth, when an unlucky clod of dirt in the right field turned the ball and allowed Hillery, of Nashville, to run three bases. Cutter got in his tase on errors and both scored on Merrick's hit, making the score two to one. Both clubs played an almost perfect game, each making two errors and each five hits. Hofford and Sixsmith were Augusta's battery, and Voss and Hillman Nash-ville's. Hofford struck out eight and Voss six. Following is the score;

The Start This Morning at Ten O'Clock-The Pedestrians Ready to Go. Fully fifteen hundred persons visited the walk ing rink at Kelly & Rosser's warehouse, between eight and nine o'clock last night.

The rink was brilliantly illuminated with eight electric lights. Every nook and corner of the building was as bright as at noonday. The managers had a brass band on hand and the visitors were regaled with music. The pedestrians, with their trainers, were on hand, and in a body made several laps. The men moved easily, and each one won friends. Guerrero, the Mexican, showed to great advantage, and made a host of friends. Orr, the old Atlanta favorite appeared to be in fine trim and gained many new friends. Ford looked much better than when he appeared on the sawdust last year and gained neakers. Prater was on hand, too. Ohlig, Burns. Courts and Dale each worked well. The men will start this morning at 10 o'clock. The word "go" will be given by C. S. Atwood. The men will be arranged across the track in the following manner:

Making Money out of the Pedestal.

A recent subscriber to the Bartholdi Pedestal Fund, gave $19, and when asked why he did not make it an even $20, explained; "By giving what I did I cleared just $5. I had a touch of malaria not long ago, and in the ordinary course of events it would have cost me $25 for a doctor's bill. I bought at my grocer's a bottle of Dufly's Pure Malt Whisky, for a dollar' and was speedily cured. So you see I saved $24 by going to a grocer instead of a doctor, out of which I deduct $5 as a premium on my sagacity, and the remainder I gratefully give to help Liberty enlighten the world." A Large Party of Atlantians go Down to Atland the Grand Opening—Who Composed the Party and What They Did-The Kindness of the People of Anniston—Etc. Etc.

Anniston, Ala., April 29 .- [Special.]-A party o about 60 Atlantians drew out of the passenger depot at Atlanta to-day bound for Anniston, where they have come to attend the opening of the famous Anniston Inn. The party had chartered a special train of three cars which drew out ahead of the regular passenger train on the nine o'clock sched-ule and was booked to make the trip through Anniston in three bours, stop-g at only one point between to Anniston in three hours, stopping at only one point between Atlanta and their destination. The train was a handsome one and was pulled by one of the best engines on the road. Mr. Jenner, the courteous general sgent of the Georgis Pacific, was on board and Conductor Perkerson manned the train. The party came under invitation from Mr. Samuel Noble, of the Woodstock iron company, which owns the Inn, and will be guests of the Anniston Inn during their stay here. Elaborate preparations have been made for their reception in Anniston and their entertainment while here.

To say that the Atlantians are captured would be to put it mildly—they are are captured would be to put it mildly—they are simply amazed a the revelations they see on all sides. As I write the parlors of the Anniston Inn, ablaze with electric lights and filled with visitors, presents a scene not to be found in another city of approximate size in the world. The inn is a marvel of beauty and elegance and compared with nothing but the Kim ball house and often as not is put ahead of that superb building, even by Atlantians. The day has been full of charming surprises and sightseing and will long be remembered as a red letter day by the Atlanta guests of the Inn. Messrs. Noble, Tyler, Mayor Height and their families have been unremitting in their courtesy. Following is the list of the visiting Atlantians: W. R. Hill and wife, Miss Helen Hill, A. L. Arnold, of Palmetto, to Miss Lida Pope, of Augusta, Rev. C. Pope, father of the bride, performed the ceremony in an impressive manner. The groom is one of Palmetto's most substantial and promising merchants, while his charming bride is one of Augusta's most estimable young ladies, and has for a long time been a favorite in Augusta society circles. The union was in every way a happy ene. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal couple left on an extended bridal tour to California and the New Orleans exposition

Meeting To-Day,
The Rev. Sam Jones has become pretty well known in Atlanta. Wherever he speaks he attracts a large crowd, and his efforts seem to be enjoyed by most of those who go to hear him. Last night he preached at Trinity church. The meeting was to have been held in the lecture as prayer meetings usually that room soon became crowded that it was determined to open the large church auditorium. This was soon filled to overcrowded that it was determined to open the large church auditorium. This was soon filled to overflowing. Mr. Jones, while the crowd poured in, began to sing "There is a fountain filled with blood," and many of the congregation joined in. After prayer and singing he began in is discourse on "The Divine call to a better life," taking as his text several verses in the first chapter of Proverbs, Among other things he said:

"I want you all to pray here to night. Criticism is trying to get shead or prayer these days. Personally I don't care for criticism. I have said many hard things about Atlanta, perhaps, but I have said nothing but what is true. The proof is forthcoming if it be demanded. You don't want it. You just want to grow around, but you don't grow! to me. If any man who prays three times a day, pays his debts and does his duty, will come to me and tell me he don't like what I say I will listen to him. But I don't care for you uncircumerised Philistines, [Laughter! You have got nothing to do with me. The hard things I have said about Atlanta have all been said in love. If there is a people on marth I like it is these Atlanta people, and especially you folks of Trinity church. But I do you that If Atlanta is to be reformed it must be reformed from the top downward. You can't begin with the bad and abandoned garacters of the city and reform it up to the 'pp. You must begin with glided vice. These ob colonels and majors who practice their rascality but Atlanta, are a blight on the community and are dragging down many a youn, man to Lil. I would rather my boy would live like old in purity and henest of lile and die a pauper than to have him follow in the footsteps of these colonels and majors and roll in all the wealth of the world."

He spoke of the many ways in which God called men to higher lives, and said that ne could take the Bible and reform the most abandoned wretch or the wickedest city in the world. His remarks on affliction as a means of turning men's hearts to God and of purifying their lives were v on stilligious as a means of turning men's nearts to God and of purifying their lives were very impressive.

After his regular discourse he appealed to those who wanted to live better lives to stand up. Several hundred persons rose. Mr. Jones, in closing the service, said he felt thankful that his preaching the service, said he felt thankful that his preaching hunt those it sought to hurt. So did the preaching of Christ. I am getting more Christlite, I hope. I am not yet as good as St. Paul. When he preached they took him ought and whipped him good. [Laughter.] I don't think I will strike the right sort of preaching until I get to that point and have a few cowhidings applied to me. But before a fellow reaches that point he ought to ask his wife how she would look in mourning. [Laughter.] He said: "There are young men before me to-night who would scorn to go into the low dens of sin and vice in Atlanta, and yet they are fond of the gilded and beautiful resorts of sin which drive men to the depths of degradation and despair. There is where sin is strong and there is where I am attacking it."

Mr. Jones will preach at Trinity church at six o'clock this morning and will probably be present at the services there to-night.

Beautiful Piano Covers,

Mr. Toy, of the Estey Organ company, is in the midst of an art exposition. He has just received some very handsome piano and organ covers tha he will put on exhibition to day and to-morrow he will put on exhibition to day and to-morrow and invites the ladies of Atlanta to drop in and see them. These goods are not kept on exhibition all the time, and this opportunity to see them is a rare chance. The covers are exquisitely embroidered by hand, and are shown in all colors. They are handsomely lined in satin, velvet and fleece, and are shown in the loveliest colors. Mr. Toy says the ladies are invited to call and inspect the goods whether they desire to purchase or not. He wants to show the style of goods he carries.

THE COCK FIGHTING PROBLEM.

Captain Lampkin's cock pit on Curran street has created a sensation which promises rare developments.

When the code of the city of Atlants was framed, a section prohibiting cock fighting within the city limits was a part of it. For a long time the law was unobserved, but six or seven years age the section was strictly enforced, and cock-fighting in Atlanta was unheard of until a few months ago when the Lovejoy pit on Broad street was started. This pit had a brilliant but brief career, and some startling stories are told of the losses, games and bloody fights enacted therein. When the pit was broken up by the raids of the police, there was another lull in the cock-fighting mania.

A few weeks ago Captain Lampkin moved from Athens to Atlanta. He is the acknowledged champion cock fighter of the state, and when he moved to the gate city chicken fighting gained a new boom. The captain consulted Judge Wright as to the legal situation and was informed that a cock pit could not be run within the city limits. Judge Wright also informed Captain Lampkin that there was no state law against cock fighting. This settled the matter in Captain Lampkin's mind. He went outside the city limits and finding a place he liked constructed his pit. On last Monday there was an exhibition fight. Fully two hundred persons witnessed the fight and the full details were presented in the next issue of The Constitution. This attracted the attention of the public, and the comment on the cock pit was general. Chief Connelly got on the war path about it, and caused the measurement to be made in order to ascertain whether or not the pit was outside the line. When he ascertained positively that it west outside his jurisdiction he turned to the grand jury which was in session yesterday, and asked that body to look into the matter. The grand jury will investigate it. The body can not find a true bill for cock fighting, but an effort is being made to induce the body to indict the participants for cruelty to animals. Some members of the grand jury beli

On account of the high wind they failed to hear an approaching train, and were both struck and instantly killed. Fanny Fern.

From the Boston Budget.

Some forty years or less have passed since prom-Some forty years or less have passed since promenaders and others passing through Washington street on almost any fine day were sure of meeting on some portion of that fashionable thoroughfare a tall, dashing and rather fantastically dressed wonan, accompanied by two little girls quite as flashily attired. She possessed a fine figure but had a plain face. She had a bold, haif-defiant look, as though she was at "loggerheads" with every one she met, but was resolved to face them down, especially if they were of her own sex. Her proud, haughty and aggressive manner was disagreeable to look upon. This remarkable looking woman was the "grass widow," Mrs. Sarah Farrington, afterwards known extensively by her nom deplume, Fanny Fern. She had recently separated from her second husband, and was said to be very poor and proud. Her father, Deacon Nathaniel Willis, was editor of the Boston Recorder and the Youth's Companion; her eldest brother, Nathaniel P. Willis, was already a writer of established reputation. She was not a favorite in her own father's family, or scarcely anywhere else. In revenge for some imaginary slights and wrongs, she published a book ca'ted "Ruth Hail," in which she caricatured in a shameful manner many of her relatives and best friends. Her father, as Old Ellet, and her brother Nathaniel, as Hyachth Ellet, were broadly burlesqued. The publication of this outrageous book was a hard blow to the poor old father, who had pinched himself financially to assist the unfinal daughter. Her abuse of Dr. Eldridge and his wife, the parents other first husband, Cashler Elletidge, of the Merchants' Bank, a gentleman well remembered by our elder citizens, and the father of her two children, was quite as shameful as that bestowed upon members of her own family. Norris, of the Olive Branch, was her "first." enaders and others passing through Washington father of her two children, was quite as shanneful as that bestowed upon members of her own family. Norris, of the Olive Branch, was her arst benefactor, and her first contribution was published in that paper. "Fanny" was born in 1811, in Portland, Me. In personal appearance she re sembled her brother Nathaniel, though she was not as good-looking, for Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes says he narrowly escaped being handsome.

Georgia to the Front.

From the Chicago News. A shower of featherless birds is about the only thing of importance the state of Mississippi has to report. We await with considerable anxiety the bulletin from Georgia, hoping and believing that that state will sustain her well earned reputation by reporting that the feathers belonging to the Mississippi birds came down in Georgia made up into pillows and feather beds.

False Eyebrows for Fair Women.

False Eyebrows for Fair Women.
From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

'The false brow is put on with just a very little more hair than the natural one possesses. Then by a peculiar process a few hairs are added every few days, and the eyebrow grows heavier so gradually that its appearance of growing naturally disarms all suspicion of its real nature. At least the owner always thinks so. A woman will plaster, paint and powder all over her face and go into the most searching light, perfectly unconscious that her neighbor is laughing; so why does she care if a very critical gaze is directed towards her eyebrows?"

AN SEPECTING SCENE

Was witnessed in the court room. White, a good looking man, apparently, 'wenty-four or five years old, attended by his father, was sitting behind his counsel. His wife, with his child in her arms, entered the bar and greeted her husband with evident emotion. White took the child in his lap and caressed it.

General Gartrell announced to the jury that the detense expected prove that White's act was done, as he supposed, in self defense, and injustice to his wife end child. During General Gartrell's remarks everal of the jury were moved to tears and there was profound silence in the room when he concluded.

The defense began with the introduction of J. A. Creed. He said he met White about 5 o'clock on the evening of the tragedy. I asked him to take a glass of beer, and after that to go down to Muller's and play a game of pool. While we were playing, Robinson came up and insisted on taking a hand. I refused to let him in as he could beat us both. White seemed first game and paid for the drinks. Robinson lost the next game and called for the Grinks but Muller refused to produce them on Rebinson's order. I said I was out if the county of the traged to the first game and called for the drinks but Muller refused to produce them on Rebinson's order. I said I was out if the lost of the might of the killing Robinson to the next game and called for the defense. On the night of the killing Robinson to the him, but I declined. I did not hear him ask for a wespon. He said White had called him a him a pologize. I asked him to wait and see White the next day, and left him hear.

a weapon. He said White had called him a , and he meant to make him apologize. I asked him to wait and see White the next day, and left him before he went back to Muller's.

W. M. Scott, a colored barber, said that he saw Robinson in front of the National hotel on the night of the killing. Saw him go out and stoop down in the street, but did not see him pick up anything. He did not hear Robinson make any threats.

William Rains, another colored barber, said he saw Robinson in front of the National hotel on the night of the killing. He stooped and picked up a rock and drew back as if he were going to strike the witness. He then remarked, "Now I am going to kill the ——." Robinson then went to Muller's saloon and soon afterwards the slots were fired.

James G. Craig said Robinson alkalatic.

ler's saloon and soon afterwards the shots were fired.

James G. Craig said Robinson asked him for a pistol on the night of the killing. Witness told him he did not have one. Robinson asked him to go over to Muller's saloon and help him settle a row he had had over there, but the witness declined to go.

Fred Allbright said Robinson came to him on the night of the killing and asked him if he had a pistol. When witness said he could not unless Robinson went out home with him, which he declined to do.

Lewis H. Muller, one of the proprietors of the saloon where the killing occurred, described the place to the jury. On the night of the killing he saw Hill, White and Robinson talking together. They all seemed to be in good humor. Witness turned to draw beer for some other customers, when he heard a thud. He looked over the counter and saw White picking himself up from off the floor. As he rose he drew a pistol. Witness rushed out and cried, "White, don't do that," Just then White fired while in a kneeling posture. After two other shots were fired out in the alley White came back into the bur. He was bleeding profusely from a severe wound in the head. Witness could not tell exactly where the blood come from at first, as White was so covered with it. The court took the usual dinner recess. After dinner Mr. Muller campleted his testimony and stated that a rock was found on the night of the killing.

The admission of this rock as evidence caused a contention between the counsel but it was finally ruled in under certain restrictions.

Lewis Bradfield testified that White had a severe gash in the head just after the shooting.

Lewis Bradfield testified that White had a severe gash in the head just after the shooting.

A. G. Jones testified as to White's character A. G. Jones testified as to White's character for peace and as to his good cenduct generally. Samuel B. Edwards was a witness whom the defense valued highly. He could not be had at this term of the court and the prosecution had agreed that an affidavit of his might be offered in evidence. It was read by Mr. Anderson. Edwards set forth that Robinson had asked Cassin, Hill, Craig and others to go back to Miller's with him and see him settle his fuss with White, and that he made several efforts to obtain a pistol. Failing to obtain a pistol. Failing to obtain a pistol Robinson went out into the street and picked up a rock as big as a man's fat and he would make White retract what he had said, that no man could talk to him in that way and live. Witness returned to Muller's with Hill and White. In a few minutes after they entered the bar there was a scuffle. Witness as White rise from the floor and freight car until the firing ceased.

TRIED FOR HIS LIFE.

THE CASE OF FRED WHITE, WHO

A Jury Obtained After Trying Bighty-Five Men-All the Evidence Submitted and the Argu-ment Beaun-The Story of the Unfor-tunate Tragedy of Last August.

The remaining two jurors who were needed for the trial of Fred White for the murder of Eugene Robinson on the 23d of last August, were obtained yesterday morning after twelve men had been called. This made a total of eighty five jurors who were examined before s jury could be agreed upon.

The prosecution was conducted by Mr. L. J. Winn and Solicitor General Hill. General Gertrell and Mr. J. A. Anderson appeared for

The first witness for the state was Mr. R. C. Hill. He said that he was with Robinson on the night of the difficulty. Both were drinkng. Robinson said something about having had a row at Muller's saloon. Witness went back to Muller's about 10 o'clock. Sam Ed-wards was along also. As witness was about to enter the barroom he seized a wheelbarrow and rolled it down the steps. Robinson had a and rolled it down the steps. Robinson had a rock in his pocket. When they got into the bar Robinsod said: "There's White now!" I went up to White and said, "What are you boys fussing about." He replied: "It's none of your d—d business." I said, "Let's all take a drink," and started for the bar. I thought Robinson and White were following me when I heard a souffle. I turned and saw White rising from the floor. Robinson was in the door and had one hand on the blind. He was looking back. White, as he rose, drew areing from the floor. Robinson was in the door and had one hand on the blind. He was looking back. White, as he rose, drew a revolver and fired. Robinson disappeared into the alley and was followed by White. There was one or more shots fired afterwards. I don't know who knocked White down. Robinson asked me lefore we went back to Muller's if I had a pistol. I said I did not, and advised him stainst going back to renew the difficulty. He said he had been treated badly by White. Robinson was drunk and excited.

Dr. Wm.P. Nicolson testfied that he saw Robinster he was shot. The ball passed into his back two inches to the right of his spine, passing through the kidneys, through the intestires, through the stomach, and breaking a rib. Robinson said he was shot for nothing, but I can't remember whether he made this statement after he restized that he must die.

The prosecution announced closed, and said any further testimony it might offer would be in rebuttal. At this time was witnessed in the court room: White, a good looking man, apparently twenty-four or five years old, attended by his father, was sitting behind his counsel. His wife, with his child in her arms, entered the bar and greeted her husband with evident emotion. White took the child in his lap and caressed it.

General Gartrell announced to the jury that the defense expected to prove that White's act was done, as he supposed, in self defense, and in justice to his wife and child. During General Gartrell's remarks executed the jury ware moved to terre and several of the jury were moved to tears and there was profound silence in the room when The defense began with the introduction of

The defense began with the introduction of J. A. Creed. He said he met White about 5 o'clock on the evening of the traggedy. I asked him to take a glass of beer, and after that to go down to Muller's and play a game of pool. While we were playing, Robinson came up and insisted on taking a hand. I refused to let him in as he could beat us both. White seemed inclined to let him play. I said we would play with dice, a game which all could play. I lost the first game and paid for the drinks. Robinson lost the next game and called for the crinks but Muller refused to produce them on Robinson's order. I said I was out if that was the game. I left White in the saloon and did not go back there that evening.

Als. E. Cassin was next introduced by the defense. On the night of the killing Robinson told him that he had been treated worse over at Muller's than he ever had been treated before in his life. He asked me to go over these with her the saloon with the tent to the told be the told before in his life. He saked me to go over these with her the saloon with the told be the saloon with the salo went back to Muller's.

W. M. Scott, a colored barber, said that he saw Robinson in front of the National hotel on the night of the killing. Saw him go out and toop down in the street, but did not see him pick up anything. He did not hear Robinson make any threats.

He stooped and picked up a rock and drew back as if he were going to strike the witness. He then remarked, "Now I am going to kill the ———." Robinson then went to Muller's saloon and soon afterwards the shots were fired.

James G. Craig said Robinson asked him for James G. Craig said Robinson asked him for a pistol on the night of the killing. Witness told him he did not have one. Robinson asked him to go over to Muller's saloon and help him settle a row he had had over there, but the witness declined to go.

Fred Allbright said Robinson came to him on the night of the kill-

Lewis H. Muller, one of the proprietors of the saloon where the killing occurred, described the place to the jury. On the night of the killing he saw Hill, White and Robinson talking together. They all seemed to be in good humor. Witness turned to draw beer for come other contents when he heard of in good humor. Witness turned to draw beer for some other customers, when he heard a thud. He looked over the counter and saw White picking himself up from off the floor. As he rose he drew a pistol. Witness rushed out and cried, "White, don't do that." Just then White fired while in a kneeling posture. After two other shots were fired out in the alley White came back into the bar. He was bleeding profusely from a severe wound in the head. Witness could not tell exactly where the blood come from at first, as White was so covered with it. The court took the usual dinner recess. After dinner Mr. Muller completed his testimony and stated that a rock was found on the fleer of the bar when it was being cleaned up the night of the killing.

Edwards was a witness whom the defense valued highly. He could not be had at this term of the court and the prosecution had agreed that an affidavit of his might be offered in evidence. It was read by Mr. Auderson. Edwards set forth that Robinson had asked Cassin. Hill. Craig and others to go back to Muller's with him and see him settle his fuss with White, and that he made several efforts with White, and that he made several efforts to obtain a pistol. Failing to obtain a pistol Robinson went out into the street and picked up a rock as big as a man's fist and said it was good enough and he would make White retract what he had said, that no man could talk to him in that way and live. Witness returned to Muller's with Hill and White. In a few minutes after they entered the bar there was a scaffle. Witness saw White rise from the floor and draw a pisiol and fire. office. He had lived quietly here for several months before the difficulty with Robinson, which was the first and last trouble of the kind he had ever had in Atlanta. On that evening Creed asked him to go and play pool at Muller's saloon. While they were playing, Robinson, whom the accused knew, came up and wanted to play. Creed objected. They all played with dice afterwards, and when Robinson lost the drinks were refused by the barkeeper. Creed then went out. White and Robinson then had some words about the game and the refusal of the drinks. Finally Robinson went off. Robinson nodded his head to Hill when he saw White. White sat down at a table and pretended to read a paper, but kept his eyes on Robinson all the while. Hill came up and asked what the trouble was between him and Robinson. White replied that it was none of Hill's business; that he and Robinson could settle it. About this time the crowd started toward the bar, when Robinson drew out a rock and struck. White a fearful blow on the head. He didn't know whether he was cut or struck with a blunt instrument. The blow felled him. As he rose he fired, Mr. Muller calling out at the same time, "Den't, White." When White got out in the alley he saw Robinson stooping as if to pick up something, when White fired egain. The third shot was fired by accident as some one caught his arm. He felt the blood gushing over his face and covering his entire tody. He had always tried to deport himself reaceably, and with this exception had experienced no trouble since he came to Atlanta. The prosecution in rebuttal introduced Fred Cooper and Frank Hilburn, who said that certain blood near the door of Multer's saloon indicated a probability that the wound on White's head was caused by his falling against the sharp edge of the wall at the door.

Both sides announced closed. Judge Hammond agreed to allow three hours to each side for argument in the case. The prosecution was opened by Mr.L.J.Winn, who had spoken mittees were appointed, and every gentleman whose name appears upon the list of any of the committees printed below is requested to take notice.

McManaman was charged with disorderly conduct and using profane language. The case was tried day before yesterday in police court, and Patrolman Abbott was the leading witness against the defendant. Yesterday McManaman asserted that the fine was the result of Patrolman Abbott's swearing. He declared that the swearing was false and preferred the charges. Chief Connolly has declined, however, to suspend Patrolman Abbott, and until his trial before the commissioners takes place, the patrolman will continue at work.

THE GATE CITY GUARD. The Company Will not go to New Orleans-

What Captain Jackson Says.

To the regret of all, the Gate City Guard, on last evening, were compelled to abandon their contemplated trip to Mobile and New Orleans.

They were forced to this course by the inabil-They were forced to this course by the inability of the requisite number of well drilled men to leave their work. About twenty-six, including the non-commissioned officers, have attended the preparatory drills for the past two months, but at the last moment it was discovered that all could not go. As thelminmum permitted to drill is twenty-six, the proposed trip had to be abandoned. This has been a great source of regret to all the company, and their many friends, as much was expected from them.

In speaking of the subject Captain Jackson in an interview with a Constitution reporter and that he regretted very much the failure of the company to make the trip, and he thought it mainly due to the fact that the military of this city has not the countenance and itary of this city has not the countenance and support of the mercantile community which it should receive. Said he: "This community is not exempt from riots and other disturbances. Thus far it has been spared. But should the time come when lives and property are endangered by mob violence, the people will see the great necessity of military organizations. The Gate City Guard, at great labor and sacrifice, has been put in arst class condition. It is perfectly equipped and well drilled. It has a handsome armory that is really an ornament to the city. But it cannot be sustained on its present footing unless itary of this city has not the countenance and not be sustained on its present footing unles the mercantile community and machine shops allow their clerks and employes to attend drills and occasionally to be absent at mili-tary encampments. Young men belonging to the companies are constanty in fear of being discharged on this account, and membership therein is considered an objection to their employment. Thus members are deterred from joining these commands. No liquor is allowed in the armory of the Gate City Guard, and the most perfect discipline prevails. The same may be said of the Horse Guard. Why, then, should these companies not receive the support of all of our people? It is true that the business of this community differs in character from that of cities where the military spirit prevails. Our people work all the year, and there is no cessation or relaxation in the spring and summer. It is at these assesses that most of the drilliare longing to the companies are constanty in tear of being discharged on thi people work all the year, and there is no cossistion or relaxation in the spring and summer. It is at these seasons that most of the drilling is done, and encampments are had elsewhere. This continuity of business, which has made Atlanta what it is, is a serious but not an insurmountable obstacle. There is still time enough for the young men to give to membership in the military companies, if their enuloyers would exince men to give to membership in the military companies, if their employers would evince the slightest desire that they should join, or even not frown upon their uniting themselves therewith. These companies may be needed at any moment, and always when least expected. We feel assured that they will always be asky to respond. The labor of sustaining them is at all times great, but surely those who have undertaken this important work should receive the sympathy and support of the people."
